

Dietrich releases new SEAT range

Dietrich has released the new sporty range of vehicles from the Spanish automaker SEAT in Argentina, more specifically, the Ibiza, Córdoba, Len, Altea and Toledo models.

The new Spanish models are available in Dietrich's recently opened SEAT branch, under the highway on Posadas street, in Retiro.

It is the first official SEAT dealership in the city and displays diesel versions with turbo injection of the Ibiza, Córdoba, Len (also in a gasoline version) Altea and Toledo models. The dealership also offers a combination of engine options, performance features, design and ideal prices.

SEAT is one of the automakers operated by Volkswagen in Argentina, which is why its introduction into the range of products and services offered by Dietrich strengthens the relationship between both companies.
